

Thinking of changing accountants?

It's simpler than you think with Rosie Accounting...

A change is as good as a rest, they say. It's January, you've filed your tax return, and you've paid HMRC. But were you happy with the process? Were you satisfied with way it was handled by your accountant? Did you do it yourself, with constant stress and anxiety? Perhaps it's time to start the new year with a new accountant. And we are here to make it simple.

Whether you're changing your insurance company, utility provider or bank account, you can often find yourself putting it off, because of the inconvenience of the laborious forms to complete and international helplines you need to call. You want it to be a simple straightforward, quick and painless process, and that is exactly what you will experience when you change to Rosie Accounting.

In a nutshell, we will take care of everything for you on your behalf.

Simply inform your current accountant that you would like to cease working with them, in the nicest way possible of course! Send them an email or letter informing them that you grant Rosie Accounting permission to liaise on your behalf, and they should then send you a disengagement letter detailing the work they have completed for you so far and if any accounts or payments are outstanding. We will take care of the rest, writing to your current accountant for professional clearance, and requesting relevant documents. We will also send you a letter of engagement and gain authorisation from HMRC to act on your behalf moving forward.

But, you don't just need to take our word for it. Here is what our clients SPC BMS Controls thought of their recent transition to Rosie Accounting...

"SPC BMS Controls Ltd are thrilled to provide a glowing testimonial for our accountant Rosie Accounting. The transition into their care was incredibly smooth and seamless. From day one, they demonstrated an exceptional level of professionalism and expertise. Their attention to detail and commitment to optimising our financial management has been truly outstanding. Our financial records have never been in better hands, and we wholeheartedly recommend their services to anyone in need of a top-notch accountant."

After filing your 2022-23 accounts, it is the perfect time to be moving to Rosie Accounting, and you only need to read our testimonials online to see why.
